Dear Student Artists,

Welcome to the Monmouth Arts Teen Arts Festival! You are among the most talented middle school and high school students in Monmouth County, and we are proud to have you on the Lincroft Campus.

The Teen Arts Festival is not a competition. This is a rare opportunity to engage with thousands of fellow artists, teachers, and art experts. You can get an in-depth critique of your work from a professional artist or sit in on any of the dozen workshops and masterclasses offered throughout the next two days.

Whether you are interested in filmmaking, music, acting, visual arts, or creative writing, there are experts and aspiring artists here who share your passion. We encourage you to engage with each other, seek out new ideas and take full advantage of this opportunity to grow as an artist.

We also encourage you to tour Brookdale’s beautiful Lincroft campus, including the Center for Visual Arts and the Performing Arts Center. These facilities and our expert art faculty will be at your disposal if you would ever like to continue your studies here at Brookdale.

Welcome again, and enjoy the Teen Arts Festival!

Sincerely,

Dr. David Stout

Theatre is fun! It also builds social and interpersonal skills that can be used for a lifetime. The classes, all based on a foundation of acting and improvisation, are designed to help students build the skills needed to succeed on the stage and beyond. The Algonquin Arts Theatre Performing Arts Academy offers programming throughout the year for students of all ages.

Algonquin's marquee arts education program within our Performing Arts Academy! Students are selected to participate through a competitive audition process. In addition to rehearsing for the main stage performance in which they are cast, AYE students are enrolled in a class that runs in conjunction with the rehearsal period, teaching theatre skills and concepts that are applied to the production.

Algonquin Art Theatre's Teen Night in collaboration with Project Write Now is a program for the playwrights, future directors, designers as well as theatregoers. By participation in this program, students will be lead through creative methods of writing that stem from the art of writing for the theatre.

Algonquin internships are for individuals who desire a challenging and practical experience. Throughout the year, AAT accepts applications from high school and college students who are seeking an opportunity to learn and work in our theatre from a business perspective.

Workshops

Acting: Building a Character: This workshop will explore the fundamentals of acting through character building. Building a character is much like baking a cake, you can have all the ingredients, but without the proper steps you end up with an unformed pile of mush. This class will help you understand how to build a character whether it’s for a show, audition or story you want to create.

College Prep Monologue Workshop: Students will explore the best monologue for College Prep Auditions. Classic and Contemporary pieces will be discussed and all students will learn how to choose the perfect monologue for themselves.

Crank Up the ‘Toons!: Students will Crank Up the ‘Toons! With Doodle Dude in this interactive workshop that covers the business of cartooning, art, and illustration. Doodle Designs are all around us - learn the ins and outs of taking an idea from start to finish. Students will take away from this workshop a foundation approach to creating a cartoon character and developing that character for potential projects for the future.

Creative Upcycling & Sustainable Fashion: Give unused clothes new life with upcycling basics for sustainable fashion. Students will be shown various techniques that will revamp old garments, while learning about sustainability and slow fashion trends. Bring an old item of clothing with you or choose from a selection of garments provided by the instructor and restore it with a fresh new look and creative flare.

Emotion Informed Movement: A dance workshop to let our emotions inform our movement, and our movement inform our emotions. Through discussion, improv, and collaboration we will work to understand how movement can be used as a coping mechanism, and emotional release.

Empty Bowls Ceramic Workshop: This workshop engages students in a social awareness project while hand-building pottery bowls. The empty bowl is a powerful symbol used to represent the existence of hunger and those among us in need. The completed bowls will be sold at the JBJ Soul Kitchen and other nonprofit organizations to raise funds for local families.
Figure Drawing: Students will learn to draw the human figure from a live model, using charcoal and newsprint paper. This class will explore proportions, volume, shading, and gesture drawing.

How to Shine on Stage and Conquer Performance Nerves: Are performance jitters getting in the way of your best performing and auditioning? In this workshop, you will learn effective, science-backed, easy-to-use tools for overcoming performance nerves and work on how to perform and sing your best!

Illustrative Ink Thoughts: This workshop is an exercise of using words of emotions to create and illustrate showing the positive outweighing the negative. Students will be able to use a variety of ink, pens, nibs and ink to create these works.

Just Write with Project Write Now: (March 17th 11am – 12pm only) Give yourself time and space to just be. There is freedom in freewriting! Join us as we inspire you to generate writing that comes from your heart. Deepen your creative sensibilities while also connecting with what really matters to you.

Making Something Out of Nothing: Jewelers are the Ultimate Recyclers: It’s not junk, it’s jewelry, it’s not scrap, it’s jewelry! Using scrap metal and things you can find around you to make your own one-of-a-kind piece of jewelry art.

Move Your Mind: (Dance Workshop on March 16th 11:40am – 12:10pm only) Explore how movement can be a positive influence in our lives, how physical and emotional release can be intertwined and how language can be a physical movement.

Movement, Music, and Harmonization: Combine Afro Brazilian martial arts, percussion music, musical harmonization and vocal training with how all of these aspects are crucial to socialization, personal creativity, and character building within the community for cognitive skills to utilize in the real world.
The Wonderful World of Found Objects: In this workshop, participants will be able to create a unique piece of art using common items that were destined for the landfill. This workshop allows for creative play and experimentation with materials.

Unarmed Stage Combat Fundamentals: This workshop aims to educate students on the basics of telling a story of violence safely. Participants will learn safe techniques and how to communicate physically and vocally with their scene partner.

Unzip Your Mind: Students can “unzip their mind” and let go of any negative feelings or thoughts that they typically carry around with them. Students will choose a zipper, glue to canvas and then be given the directive which allows them a good amount of artistic freedom.
